Assisted Migrations: The Cost Effective Way to Deliver a Successful Outcome

Many of our customers have cost constraints and want to use their own IT staff to perform their archive migration where possible. However, successful archive migrations require significant domain experience and expertise, and involve many actions that must be taken to ensure optimal throughput, a seamless user experience and a successful outcome. So, can this be done? Yes – using Transvault’s Assisted Migration Service.

Transvault’s Assisted Migration service is designed to give cost-effective project set-up support, enabling your customer to use their own team to complete the project with support available if and when you need it.

Using our Transvault Sprint and PST-Insight platforms, in-house IT teams can lead their migration, confident in the knowledge that the migration process has been designed, configured and tested by our experienced migration consultants.

“We’re committed to using our extensive migration expertise to deliver the best migration outcome for our customers.”

"We hit the timelines, we got the data out, we never had to go back and say, 'Oh man, we messed up, we need to reimport some data'. Everything is there, everything is smooth, the business has been operating in Office 365 for a while now, and there are no issues."
